

EURASIAN
TECHNOLOGICAL UNIVERSITY

CATALOG OF ELECTIVE DISCIPLINES

Educational program
«6B04201 Jurisprudence»

for admission in 2025

Almaty, 2025

Approved at the meeting of the Educational and Methodological Council
Protocol No. 3 of 19 February, 2025
Chairman of the Educational and Methodological Council Savelyeva V.V.

Duration of study: 3 years

Degree awarded: Bachelor of Law

Name of the discipline	The purpose and objectives of the discipline	Prerequisites Postrequisites	Volume of loans	Emerging competencies
2	3	4	5	6
2 trimester
Law enforcement agencies of the Republic of Kazakhstan	Purpose: to study the organization and functions of law enforcement agencies in Kazakhstan, their interaction with other state institutions, their role and importance in ensuring law and order and protecting citizens' rights. Task: 1. Familiarization with the history and development of the law enforcement system, the basic principles of its work, the structure and competencies of various law enforcement agencies. 2. Analysis of the main laws and regulations governing the activities of law enforcement agencies, their responsibility to society and the state.	Prerequisites: Theory of State and Law Post-requisites: Criminal law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special Part part)	5	1. Understanding the basic provisions of the legal system of the Republic of Kazakhstan, including the Constitution and laws governing the activities of law enforcement agencies. 2. Study of procedures related to the investigation of crimes and ensuring public safety in the Republic of Kazakhstan. 3. Development of skills in the field of respect for human rights and the basic principles of the rule of law in the implementation of law enforcement activities. 4. Assessment of the impact of law enforcement agencies on society and individual rights of citizens, including through the prism of corruption and violations of the rule of law. 5. Research of international and national experience in the field of law enforcement and application of best practices in the context of Kazakhstan. 6. Development of communication skills and interaction with other law enforcement agencies, civil society organizations and international partners in order to improve the work of the law enforcement system.
Judicial System of the Republic of Kazakhstan	Purpose: To investigate and understand the basic principles and features of the Judicial system of the Republic of Kazakhstan, its structure and functioning. Tasks: 1. To study the history of the judicial system development in the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. To investigate the legislative framework governing the work of courts in the country.	Prerequisites: Theory of State and Law Post-requisites: Criminal procedure	5	1. Understanding the structure and principles of functioning of the judicial system in the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. Knowledge of the main regulatory legal acts regulating the activities of courts in Kazakhstan. 3. The ability to analyze judicial processes and the decisions they make. 4. The ability to assess compliance with procedural rules when considering cases in the courts of Kazakhstan.

4 trimester
Labor Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of the discipline "Labor Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan" is to study the basic regulations and principles of regulating labor relations, as well as to master the basic provisions of labor legislation for students to properly understand and apply legal norms in the field of labor and employment. Tasks: 1. To study the main regulatory legal acts regulating labor relations in Kazakhstan. 2. Understand the procedure for registration and termination of employment relations with employees in accordance with the legislation of Kazakhstan. 3. To study the rights and obligations of the employer and the employee within the framework of the employment relationship. 5. To consider the specifics of regulation of working hours, wages and vacations in Kazakhstan. 4. To investigate the procedure for resolving labor disputes and conflicts between the parties to the employment relationship.	Prerequisites: Theory of State and Law Post-requisites: Civil procedural law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	5	1. The ability to correctly assess and apply labor legislation in practice. 3. Skills in drafting and analyzing employment contracts, orders, regulations and other documents in the field of labor law. 4. Understanding the basic principles and institutions of labor law, including the rights and obligations of the employee and the employer. 5. Competence to resolve conflicts and disputes within the framework of labor relations. 6. The ability to advise employees and employers on labor legislation issues. 7. Knowledge of procedures and rules of termination of employment relations. 8. Understanding the basics of the labor process and the specifics of its regulation in the Republic of Kazakhstan.
Labor legislation and the resolution of labor disputes in the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of the discipline "Labor Law and Labor Dispute Resolution in the Republic of Kazakhstan" is to provide students with the necessary knowledge and skills in the field of labor law and labor dispute resolution so that they can effectively manage personnel in companies operating in the Republic of Kazakhstan. Objectives of the discipline: 1. Study of the basic norms and principles of labor legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. Familiarization with the procedures for concluding and terminating employment contracts. 3. Study of the rights and obligations of employers and employees in accordance with labor legislation. 4. Understanding the process of resolving labor disputes and methods of their prevention in companies. 5. Familiarization with the possible consequences of violations of labor legislation and ways to minimize them.	Prerequisites: Theory of State and Law Post-requisites: Civil procedural law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	5	1. The ability to apply labor legislation in practical situations that arise in enterprises and organizations. 2. Skills in working with employment contracts, orders, collective agreements and other documents regulating labor relations. 3. Understanding the procedures and mechanisms for resolving labor disputes in the Republic of Kazakhstan, including participation in negotiations, mediation and litigation. 4. The ability to analyze labor disputes and find compromise solutions, taking into account the legislation and the interests of the parties. 5. Knowledge of the basic principles and methods of conflict resolution in the workplace and in teams. 6. The ability to advise employers and employees on labor legislation and the resolution of labor disputes.
Discipline 1	According to the minor catalog	Prerequisites: Discipline no Post-requisites: Discipline 2	5	According to the minor catalog
5 trimester

Fundamentals of Anti-Corruption Culture	The purpose of the discipline "Fundamentals of Law and Anti—corruption culture" is to provide students with basic legal knowledge, the ability to navigate the legal system, as well as the development of an anti-corruption culture, responsibility and ethical attitude to legal norms and anti-corruption. Objectives of the discipline: 1. To familiarize students with the basics of the legal system, concepts and institutions of law. 2. Explain the principles of the rule of law and the legal provision of society. 3. To form an idea of the types and sources of law, as well as legal liability. 4. To foster respect for legal norms and legal procedures. 5. Develop the skills of legal analysis and legal culture. 6. To raise awareness about the problems of corruption, its consequences and ways to counteract it. 7. To foster anti-corruption responsibility and culture among students. 8. To develop the ability to recognize corruption manifestations and to counteract them with legal and ethical mechanisms.	Prerequisites: no Post-requirements: Special disciplines	5	1. Understanding the basic concepts and categories of law, the legal system and legal norms. 2. Knowledge of the principles and functions of law in modern society. 3. Skills in applying legal norms in various life situations. 4. Awareness of the role and importance of the anti-corruption culture for the development of the rule of law. 5. The ability to identify and analyze corruption, as well as take measures to prevent it. 6. Skills of forming one's own civic responsibility and legal culture. 7. The ability to navigate legal sources and use them to solve practical problems. 8. Formation of ethical values aimed at combating corruption and upholding the rule of law. 9. Developing the ability to critically assess legal and corruption situations, identify violations and propose solutions.
Ecology and life safety	The purpose of the discipline "Ecology and life safety" To ensure that students have a systematic understanding of the main environmental processes, modern environmental problems and methods of solving them, as well as the development of safe behavior skills in the environment to preserve health and ensure the sustainable development of society. Objectives of the discipline: 1. To familiarize students with the basic concepts and principles of ecology, structures and functions of ecological systems. 2. To consider modern environmental problems, their causes and possible consequences for humans and nature. 3. To familiarize with the regulatory framework in the field of environmental protection and environmental safety. 4. Develop skills in assessing the environmental situation and making decisions to minimize negative impacts on the environment.	Prerequisites: no Post-requirements: Special disciplines	5	1. Knowledge of basic ecological concepts, laws and principles, characteristics of natural systems and human environmental impact factors. 2. The ability to assess the environmental situation, identify environmental problems and analyze their causes. 3. Skills in applying methods of environmental monitoring, assessment of environmental safety and rational use of natural resources. 4. The ability to develop and implement measures to protect the environment and ensure safe living conditions. 5. Knowledge of rules and regulations in the field of environmental safety, sanitary requirements and hygiene standards. 6. Skills in working with environmental documentation, preparing reports and proposals for improving the environmental situation. 7. Developing responsibility for the environment and personal safety, as well as the ability to make informed decisions in environmental situations. 8. Education of ecological culture, formation of ecological responsibility and active citizenship in the field of nature protection.

	5. Develop the skills of safe behavior in various environmental conditions, prevention of environmental risks and emergency situations. 6. Foster a responsible attitude towards nature and form an ecological culture.
Methods of scientific research	The purpose of the discipline "Methods of scientific research" is to provide students with a systematic understanding of the fundamentals and principles of scientific research, to teach them how to use modern methods to collect, analyze and interpret data, as well as to develop critical thinking and scientific communication skills. Objectives of the discipline: 1. To familiarize students with the theoretical foundations of scientific research methods. 2. Teach the principles of developing scientific hypotheses and formulating scientific questions. 3. To introduce methods of collecting and processing experimental and theoretical data. 4. Develop skills in analyzing, interpreting, and critically evaluating scientific information. 5. To teach the use of statistical and information technologies in scientific research. 6. Develop the ability to make scientific reports, articles and presentations. 7. To develop the skills of an ethical approach to conducting research.	Prerequisites: no Post-requirements: Special disciplines	5	1. Knowledge of the basic concepts and categories of scientific research methods, their role and place in scientific activity. 2. The ability to formulate scientific hypotheses and research goals. 3. Knowledge of methods of collecting, analyzing and interpreting scientific information. 4. Skills in choosing and applying appropriate research methods in various scientific situations. 5. The ability to plan and organize the research process. 6. Skills of critical thinking and evaluation of scientific sources. 7. The ability to formulate research results in a scientific style, prepare a scientific report or an article. 8. Developing the ability to work with scientific literature and information resources. 9. Formation of ethical values in scientific activity. 10. Skills of using modern information technologies in the process of scientific research.
Fundamentals of Economics and Financial literacy	The purpose of the discipline "Fundamentals of Economics and Financial Literacy" is to provide students with the basic knowledge, skills and abilities necessary to understand economic processes and effectively manage personal finances, as well as to develop an economic culture and responsibility in making financial decisions. Objectives of the discipline: 1. To familiarize students with the basic economic concepts, categories and principles of functioning of the market economy. 2. Explain the structure and role of financial institutions, markets, and instruments. 3. Develop skills in analyzing economic information and making informed financial decisions.	Prerequisites: no Post-requirements: Special disciplines	5	1. Understand the basic economic concepts and categories. 2. Analyze the economic situation and make informed financial decisions. 3. Evaluate the role and functions of financial institutions and markets. 4. Use basic financial tools and resources to manage your personal finances. 5. Develop budget planning and financial analysis skills. 6. Be aware of the importance of economic and financial literacy for personal and social development. 7. Analyze the impact of economic factors on human life and activity. 8. Develop the skills of responsible and rational behavior in the field of finance. 9. To be guided by current trends in the development of the economy and financial systems. 10. Develop critical thinking on economic policy and financial decisions.

	4. Form an idea of personal finance, budgeting, savings and investments. 5. Foster a responsible and competent attitude towards financial risks and obligations. 6. To familiarize with the legal aspects of financial activity and protection of the rights of consumers of financial services. 7. Develop critical thinking and the ability to apply economic knowledge in everyday life.
Discipline 2	According to the minor catalog	Prerequisites: Discipline 1 Post-requisites: Discipline 3	5	According to the minor catalog
Contract law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of studying the discipline is to gain an in-depth understanding of the basic principles and rules governing the conclusion, execution and termination of contracts, as well as the acquisition of skills in analyzing and resolving legal issues in the field of contractual relations. Objectives of the study of the discipline "Contract law of the Republic of Kazakhstan": 1. Familiarization with the basic concepts and terms used in contract law. 2. Study of the general rules for concluding contracts and types of contracts. 3. Understanding the terms of contracts, their changes and termination. 4. Analysis of cases of violation of contractual obligations and possible ways to protect the rights of subjects.	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Alternative ways to resolve civil law disputes	5	1. Understanding the basic principles and concepts of contract law. 2. The ability to analyze and interpret various types of contracts. 3. The skill of assessing the legal significance of the terms of contracts. 4. The ability to compile and analyze contractual documentation. 5. The ability to apply laws and legal norms to specific contractual situations. 6. The skill of identifying and resolving conflicts related to the execution of contracts. 7. Understanding the parties' responsibilities under the agreement and ways to regulate them. 8. Development of communication and negotiation skills in the context of concluding and executing contracts.
Housing Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of studying the discipline "Housing law of the Republic of Kazakhstan" is to acquire knowledge about regulatory legal acts regulating relations in the field of housing rights of citizens in Kazakhstan. Objectives of the study of the discipline "Housing law of the Republic of Kazakhstan": 1. Study of the basic principles and concepts governing relations in the field of housing rights of citizens. 2. Familiarization with the procedure for registration and transactions with residential real estate in Kazakhstan. 3. Study of the basic rights and obligations of owners and tenants of residential premises.	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Alternative ways to resolve civil law disputes	5	1. Understanding the basic provisions of housing legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. The ability to apply the norms of housing law in solving practical problems and situations. 3. The ability to analyze and resolve conflict situations arising in the field of housing relations. 4. Knowledge of procedures and rules for registration of rights to residential premises and land plots. 5. The ability to advise and inform citizens about their housing rights and responsibilities. 6. Skills in working with legal documents related to housing relations.

	4. Consideration of ways to resolve conflicts and disputes arising in the field of housing rights.
6 trimester
Discipline 3	According to the minor catalog	Prerequisites: Discipline 2 Post-requisites: Discipline 4	5	According to the minor catalog
Juvenile Justice	The purpose of studying the discipline "Juvenile Justice" is to introduce students to the basics of legal regulation in the field of protecting the rights and interests of minors, as well as to develop skills in working with rehabilitation programs and measures to prevent offenses among children and adolescents. Objectives of the discipline study: 1. Study of the basic principles and regulations governing activities in the field of juvenile justice. 2. Mastering methods and tools for the prevention of juvenile delinquency. 3. Understanding the procedures and mechanisms for protecting the rights of children and adolescents.	Prerequisites: Criminal Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Prosecutorial supervision in the Republic of Kazakhstan	5	1. Understanding the principles and basic concepts of juvenile justice, such as the indivisibility of the child's personality, the principle of minors, social adaptation and reintegration of minors into society. 2. The ability to analyze problems and challenges in the field of juvenile justice, such as the causes of juvenile criminal activity, the impact of the social environment on their behavior and the possibilities of preventing recidivism. 3. The ability to develop and apply effective methods of rehabilitation and re-socialization of juvenile offenders, taking into account their individual characteristics and needs. 4. The skill of conducting research in the field of juvenile justice, analyzing statistical data and legislation affecting the protection of the rights of children and adolescents. 5. Competence in the development and implementation of preventive programs aimed at preventing offenses among minors and increasing their social activity.
Criminal liability of minors	The purpose of studying the discipline "Criminal legal responsibility of minors" can be formulated as students mastering the basics of criminal law regulation of the responsibility of persons under the age of majority in the field of criminal law, taking into account the age and psychological specifics of this category of the population. The objectives of studying this discipline may include: 1. Study of the fundamentals of juvenile criminal liability, their historical and theoretical development. 2. Study of the features of the criminal liability of minors as a separate category of persons. 3. Development of practical skills and abilities for working with minors in the context of criminal responsibility.	Prerequisites: Criminal Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Prosecutorial supervision in the Republic of Kazakhstan	5	1. Definition of the basic principles of juvenile criminal liability and their application in practice. 2. Distinguishing the specifics of juvenile criminal liability from adult responsibility. 3. Analysis and assessment of the criminal situation involving minors, identification of the causes and factors contributing to criminal activity in this age group. 4. The application of legal norms and acts in the field of juvenile criminal liability in practice. 5. Developing practical skills for investigating crimes committed by minors and making decisions in accordance with the law. 6. The ability to analyze and critically evaluate the actions of minors in the context of criminal responsibility and propose adequate penalties and corrections. 7. Communication skills for working with juvenile offenders, their parents and social services within the framework of criminal law responsibility.
7 trimester
Discipline 4	According to the minor catalog	Prerequisites: Discipline 3	5	According to the minor catalog

		Post-requisites: Discipline no
Land Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of studying the discipline "Land Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan" is to acquire knowledge about the legal norms governing relations related to the use and protection of land in Kazakhstan. The objectives of studying this discipline may include: 1. Understanding the basic principles and legal acts related to land relations in Kazakhstan. 2. Study of procedures and rules for registration and transfer of land plots. 3. Analysis of the rights and obligations of subjects involved in land relations. 4. The study of ways to resolve conflicts arising in the field of land law. 5. Familiarization with the mechanisms of control over the implementation of land legislation in Kazakhstan.	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Alternative ways to resolve civil law disputes	5	1. Understanding the basic principles and regulations governing land relations in the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. The ability to analyze legal issues related to the use and turnover of land. 3. The skill of applying legislation on land resources in solving legal problems in this area. 4. The ability to advise citizens and organizations on land law issues. 5. The skill of resolving conflicts and disputes related to land relations in accordance with the legislation of Kazakhstan. 6. Using analytical and documentation skills to work with contracts and other legal documents in the field of land law.
Environmental law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of studying the discipline "Environmental Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan" is to familiarize students with the basic legal norms and regulatory mechanisms in the field of environmental protection in Kazakhstan, to develop an understanding of environmental problems and ways to solve them in the context of legislation. The objectives of studying this discipline may include: 1. Study of the basic principles of environmental law and their application in practice. 2. Study of instruments and mechanisms of public administration in the field of environmental protection. 3. Development of analysis and decision-making skills in the field of environmental law in practice.	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Alternative ways to resolve civil law disputes	5	1. Understanding the basic principles and provisions of environmental law of the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. The ability to analyze and evaluate the environmental legislation of Kazakhstan. 3. Skills in working with regulations and documents regulating environmental relations in the country. 4. The ability to apply knowledge of environmental law in practical situations and solving specific problems. 5. Willingness to comply with environmental regulations and requirements, to comply with rules and standards of environmental protection.
Insurance law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	Цель изучения дисциплины «Страховое право Республики Казахстан» - освоение основных принципов, норм и инструментов, регулирующих страховательные отношения в современном мире. Кроме того, целью изучения данной дисциплины является формирование понимания основ страхования как инструмента защиты интересов сторон в случае наступления страхового случая. Задачи изучения дисциплины Страховое право Республики Казахстан включают в себя:	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Industrial practice	5	1. Understanding the basic principles of insurance law and its place in the legal system. 2. Analysis and evaluation of insurance legislation, including the main provisions of the Civil Code and special rules on insurance activities. 3. The ability to distinguish between types of insurance (life, property, liability, etc.) and their features. 4. The skill of applying legal norms and precedents in resolving disputes related to insurance cases. 5. The ability to negotiate and conclude insurance contracts with clients or insurance companies.

	1. Изучение основных понятий и терминов, применяемых в области страхования. 2. Анализ правовых норм, регулирующих деятельность страховых компаний и страхователей. 3. Ознакомление с основными типами страхования и их особенностями. 4. Разбор практических случаев и ситуаций, связанных со страховыми отношениями. 5. Изучение ответственности сторон в случае нарушения страховых обязательств. 6. Освоение механизмов урегулирования споров и конфликтов, возникающих в рамках страхования.			6. Willingness to constantly update knowledge in the field of insurance and to understand new trends in this field.
Banking law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of studying the discipline "Banking Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan" is to acquire students' knowledge and understanding of the basic regulations governing the banking system. The objectives of studying this discipline include: 1. Study of the basic principles of banks and banking institutions. 2. Familiarization with the specifics of banking operations and services. 3. Understanding the legal aspects of contracts and transactions concluded in the banking sector. 4. Study of banks' responsibility to customers and the state. 5. Development of skills in applying legislation in practice, taking into account the specifics of the banking sector.	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Industrial practice	5	1. Understanding the basic principles and concepts of banking law. 2. The ability to analyze and apply the norms of banking legislation. 3. The ability to assess risks and ensure compliance with legal norms in the activities of banks. 4. Skills of working with legal documents and regulators of the banking sector. 5. The ability to resolve disputes and conflicts arising in the field of banking law. 6. Knowledge of international standards and practices in the field of banking regulation. 7. Competence in the field of protection of the rights and interests of bank clients and creditors.
Prosecutorial supervision in the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of studying the discipline "Prosecutorial supervision in the Republic of Kazakhstan" is for students to master the basic principles, functions and methods of prosecutorial supervision in the Kazakh jurisdiction. The main objectives of studying this discipline include: 1. Study of the role and functions of prosecutorial supervision in the system of law enforcement agencies in the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. Analysis of the main legal acts regulating the activities of prosecutorial supervision in Kazakhstan. 3. Consideration of the procedural aspects of prosecutorial supervision in various areas of law enforcement.	Prerequisites: Criminal procedure law of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Industrial practice	5	1. Understanding the basics of prosecutorial supervision in the legal system of the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. The ability to analyze legislation and judicial practice in the field of prosecutorial supervision. 3. Skills in conducting inspections and monitoring the implementation of laws by government agencies and officials. 4. Competence to protect the rights and legitimate interests of citizens, society and the state within the framework of prosecutorial supervision. 5. The ability to make informed decisions and recommendations for improving the activities of authorities based on the results of prosecutorial supervision. 6. Communication and diplomatic skills for interaction with various government structures and public organizations.

	4. Study of mechanisms for protecting the rights and interests of citizens through prosecutorial supervision.
Enforcement proceedings	The purpose of studying the discipline "Enforcement Proceedings" is to familiarize students with the basic legal and procedural aspects of enforcement proceedings in civil and administrative law. The main objectives of studying this discipline include: 1. Understanding the basic concepts and principles of enforcement proceedings. 2. Study of the main stages and procedure of enforcement proceedings. 3. Consideration of the main types of enforcement proceedings and methods of enforcement. 4. Study of the responsibility of the parties in enforcement proceedings.	Prerequisites: Criminal procedure law of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Industrial practice	5	1. Understanding the enforcement process, including the basic principles and stages of its implementation. 2. The ability to apply the procedures and tools of enforcement proceedings, taking into account the legislation. 3. Document analysis skills and preparation of necessary documents for enforcement proceedings. 4. Competence in the field of interaction with participants in enforcement proceedings, including debtors, creditors and executors. 5. The ability to make decisions in difficult situations arising in the course of enforcement proceedings. 6. Skills in planning and monitoring the implementation of court decisions in the framework of enforcement proceedings.
8 trimester
Criminalistics	The purpose of studying the discipline of Criminology is to gain an in-depth understanding of the methods and techniques used to investigate crimes, analyze evidence, and collect evidence in criminal cases. The tasks of studying the discipline "Criminalistics" may include: 1. Study of the basic principles of criminology and its place in the criminal law system. 2. Familiarization with the basic methods and techniques of forensic examination. 3. Understanding the principles of working with evidence, physical evidence and their protection from falsification. 4. Analysis of modern technologies and methods used in criminology for investigation. 5. Mastering the skills of analyzing evidence and documentation in criminal cases.	Prerequisites: Criminal procedure law of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	5	1. Knowledge of the basics of criminology and methods of crime research. 2. The ability to analyze investigative materials and evidence. 3. Skills in working with forensic equipment and machinery. 4. The ability to conduct forensic examinations and research. 5. The skill of compiling and analyzing forensic reports. 6. The ability to apply legislation in the field of criminology. 7. Skills in working with information systems and databases in the field of criminology. 8. Ability to interact with law enforcement agencies and other law enforcement professionals.
Forensic science	The purpose of studying the discipline "Forensic Expertise" is to acquire practical knowledge and skills in the field of forensic examination and evaluation of evidence in criminal and civil proceedings. The objectives of studying this discipline may include: 1. Familiarization with the methods and techniques of conducting various types of forensic examination. 2. Study of legislation regulating the procedure for conducting expert research.	Prerequisites: Criminal procedure law of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	5	1. Knowledge of the theory and practice of forensic examination, including the basic methods and principles of conducting expertise in various fields of law. 2. Skills in collecting, analyzing, and interpreting evidence during a forensic examination. 3. The ability to competently and objectively draw up expert opinions based on discovered facts and data. 4. Strict compliance with regulatory requirements and procedures governing forensic examination.

	3. Acquisition of skills of assessment and analysis of expert opinions. 4. Study of practical aspects of the work of a forensic expert and preparation of expert conclusions.			5. Development of communication skills and interaction with participants in the judicial process, including judges, lawyers and parties to the case. 6. The ability to analyze complex information, make informed decisions and substantiate their conclusions using scientific methods.
Tax Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of the discipline "Tax Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan" is to study the basic principles of tax legislation, methods of managing tax obligations and the basics of taxation, as well as to master the skills of tax dispute resolution. The objectives of this discipline include: 1. Study of the basic concepts and principles of tax law. 2. Analysis of tax systems of different countries and their comparison. 3. Definition of tax obligations and taxation in various fields of activity. 4. Study of tax dispute settlement procedures and methods of minimizing the tax burden.	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	5	1. Understanding the basics of tax legislation and principles of taxation. 2. The ability to analyze tax regulations and apply them in practice. 3. Competence in resolving tax disputes and consulting on tax issues. 4. Skills in assessing tax risk and developing strategies to minimize the tax burden. 5. Knowledge of procedures and deadlines for resolving tax disputes in accordance with current legislation. 6. Ability to work with tax reports and documentation.
Financial Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of the discipline "Financial Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan" is to study and understand the legal aspects in the field of finance and financial relations in Kazakhstan. The main objectives of the discipline may include: 1. Study of the regulatory framework of the financial system of the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. Analysis of the legal principles governing financial relations and transactions. 3. Consideration of the basic rights and obligations of financial market participants. 4. Study of regulatory and supervisory procedures by the state.	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (General, special part) Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	5	1. Understanding the basic principles of financial law of the Republic of Kazakhstan and their application in practical situations. 2. The ability to analyze and interpret regulations related to financial activities in Kazakhstan. 3. Skills in verifying the compliance of financial transactions and contracts with the requirements of the legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan. 4. The ability to advise clients on financial law issues and provide them with correct legal assistance. 5. The ability to assess risks and possible consequences of violations of the financial legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan.
Workshop on drafting civil law and procedural documents	The purpose of the discipline "Workshop on drafting civil law and procedural documents" is to teach students the skills of effective drafting of legal documents in the field of civil law and process. The objectives of this discipline may include: 1. Familiarization with the basic principles and structure of civil law and procedural documents. 2. Acquisition of practical skills in drafting various legal documents, such as contracts, statements, complaints, etc. 3. Study of the specifics of paperwork, taking into account the requirements of legislation and judicial practice.	Prerequisites: Civil procedural law of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	5	1. Skills in drafting civil law documents such as contracts, statements, claims and other legally relevant documents. 2. Knowledge of the basic principles and rules of registration of procedural documents necessary for conducting legal cases. 3. The ability to analyze legal situations and present information in the form of relevant documents. 4. Communication skills for interacting with clients, colleagues and parties in legal matters when preparing documents. 5. The ability to work in legal information systems and use specialized programs for paperwork.

	4. Development of skills for the reasoned and logical presentation of information in legal documents.
Drafting procedural documents	The purpose of the discipline "Drafting procedural documents" is to teach students the basics of proper registration and preparation of all necessary documents required for legal activity. The tasks of the discipline may include: 1. Definition of the main types of procedural documents and their purpose. 2. Study of the requirements for the structure, content and design of various types of legal documents. 3. Mastering the methods of analysis and interpretation of legislation in order to compile the correct documents.	Prerequisites: Civil procedural law of the Republic of Kazakhstan, Criminal procedure law of the Republic of Kazakhstan, Administrative process of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	5	1. Skills in analyzing information and determining its relevance for drafting procedural documents. 2. Ability to follow the procedures and requirements established by the current legislation. 3. Document processing skills in accordance with the requirements of the legal style and form. 4. The ability to use specialized programs and resources to prepare procedural documents. 5. Skills in meeting deadlines and quality control of paperwork. 6. Skills of working with various types of procedural documents (statements of claim, complaints, protocols, etc.). 7. The ability to adapt to the changing legal framework and requirements when drafting documents. 8. The ability to justify and justify their decisions when drafting procedural documents.
Alternative ways to resolve civil law disputes	The purpose of the discipline "Alternative Methods of Civil Law Dispute Resolution" is to teach students various methods of conflict resolution and disputes in civil law, helping them to understand the basic principles and tools of alternative dispute resolution. Objectives: 1. To study the basic concepts and principles of alternative ways of resolving civil law disputes, such as mediation, consultation, arbitration and others. 2. Analysis of practical cases and examples of the use of alternative dispute resolution methods in legal practice. 3. Teaching students the skills of applying conflictology and negotiation to effectively resolve differences between the parties to the dispute. 4. To promote the development of professionalism and ethical standards in the field of alternative dispute resolution, as well as the formation of skills for collaborative work and participation in the dispute resolution process.	Prerequisites: Civil procedural law of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	5	1. Understanding the basic principles and types of alternative dispute resolution, including mediation, arbitration, consultation and other methods. 2. Situation analysis skills to determine the most appropriate dispute resolution method. 3. The ability to negotiate and conduct dialogues with the parties to the dispute in order to achieve a constructive solution. 4. Skills in conducting the mediation or arbitration process, including the ability to manage the process, build trusting relationships and find compromises. 5. Knowledge of procedural rules and requirements regarding alternative dispute resolution methods in civil law.
Arbitration proceedings in the Republic of Kazakhstan	The purpose of the discipline "Arbitration in the Republic of Kazakhstan" is to study the procedural aspects of dispute resolution through arbitration in Kazakhstan. The tasks of this discipline may include: 1. Study of the legislation on commercial arbitration in Kazakhstan and its application in practice.	Prerequisites: Civil procedural law of the Republic of Kazakhstan	5	1. Knowledge of the basic principles and rules of arbitration. 2. The ability to analyze and interpret arbitration legislation. 3. Skills in conducting arbitration proceedings from beginning to end. 4. Competence in working with evidence and expert opinions. 5. The ability to draw up an arbitration claim and other procedural documents.

	2. Familiarization with the procedures and rules governing arbitration processes in the country. 3. Study of possible ways of enforcement of arbitration awards in the Republic of Kazakhstan. 4. Review of the basic principles and procedures used in arbitration processes in the country.	Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice		6. Argumentation skills and defense of a party's position in the arbitration process. 7. Understanding the ethical and professional standards of conduct of an arbitration judge or lawyer.
Private international law	The purpose of the discipline "Private International Law" is to study the legal norms and principles governing private legal relations involving foreign elements. The main objectives of this discipline include: 1. Study the rules governing jurisdiction and the choice of applicable law in international transactions and disputes. 2. Understanding the procedures of international judicial cooperation and recognition of foreign judgments. 3. Study of the influence of international treaties and conventions on the regulation of private legal relations.	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (Special part) Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	5	1. Understanding the fundamentals of private international law and its difference from national law. 2. The ability to analyze various types of conflicts of legal norms and apply appropriate resolution methods and procedures. 3. Skills in assessing international treaties and agreements in the context of ensuring the legal interests of the parties. 5. The ability to apply the sources of private international law to solve practical legal issues.
International arbitration	Purpose: to provide students with theoretical knowledge and practical skills in the field of international arbitration as a way to resolve cross-border commercial disputes, as well as to familiarize them with the legal norms, procedures and institutions of international arbitration. The main objectives of this discipline include: 1. To study the legal nature and types of international arbitration (commercial, investment, etc.). 2. To familiarize with the main international acts regulating arbitration activities. 3. Analyze the principles and stages of arbitration proceedings: from the arbitration agreement to the enforcement of the award.	Prerequisites: Civil Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan (Special part), Civil procedural law of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	5	1. The ability to apply the norms of international and national arbitration law to resolve commercial disputes between subjects of different states. 2. The ability to analyze and interpret arbitration clauses in international contracts, to understand the specifics of the choice of applicable law and jurisdiction. 3. Knowledge of the procedural aspects of international arbitration, including the preparation and filing of claims, participation in hearings, collection and presentation of evidence. 4. The ability to effectively negotiate, seek mutually beneficial solutions and resolve disputes through arbitration and alternative conflict resolution methods. 5. Knowledge of international arbitration standards, ethical requirements and practices that ensure the impartiality and independence of arbitrators.

	3. Analyze the principles and stages of arbitration proceedings: from the arbitration agreement to the enforcement of the award.	Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice		5. Knowledge of international arbitration standards, ethical requirements and practices that ensure the impartiality and independence of arbitrators.
Digital advocacy in the Republic of Kazakhstan	Purpose: To form students' knowledge and practical skills necessary for the effective use of digital technologies in advocacy, in the context of the digitalization of justice and the legal system of the Republic of Kazakhstan. The main objectives of this discipline include: 1. Familiarization with the regulatory framework governing the digitalization of advocacy in the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. Study of digital platforms and information systems used in the practice of law (eGov, AIS UP, judicial portals, for example). 3. Developing skills in working with electronic documents and electronic digital signatures (EDS). 4. Mastering the tools of remote consulting, electronic interaction with courts and government agencies.	Prerequisites: Civil procedural law of the Republic of Kazakhstan, Criminal procedure law of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	4	1. The ability to effectively use digital technologies and electronic resources in the process of providing legal assistance and advocacy in the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. The ability to navigate the legal regulation of digital technologies, electronic document management and electronic services in the legal profession system of the Republic of Kazakhstan. 3. Possession of modern digital tools for business management, customer interaction, electronic document management, as well as participation in online consultations and litigation. 4. Knowledge of the regulatory acts of the Republic of Kazakhstan regulating digital advocacy and compliance with ethical standards when providing legal assistance in the digital space. 5. The ability to communicate effectively with clients and colleagues using digital means, conduct remote consulting and cooperation.
Digital notary in the Republic of Kazakhstan	Purpose: To form students' theoretical knowledge and practical skills necessary for conducting notarial activities using digital technologies in the context of modernization and digitalization of the legal system of the Republic of Kazakhstan. The main objectives of this discipline include: 1. Familiarization with the legal framework of the digital notary in the Republic of Kazakhstan, including current legislation and government digitalization programs. 2. Study of digital tools used in notary practice (for example, the Unified Notary Information System (ENIS), EDS, eGov, database on inheritance cases, etc.). 3. Mastering the procedure for registration of notarial actions in electronic format, including remote certification of transactions. 4. Formation of skills of compilation, verification and storage of electronic notarial documents.	Prerequisites: Civil procedural law of the Republic of Kazakhstan Post-requirements: Pre-diploma practice	4	1. The ability to apply modern digital technologies and electronic services in notary activities in accordance with the legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan. 2. The ability to navigate the regulatory framework governing the digitalization of notary services, electronic document management and electronic signature in Kazakhstan. 3. Possession of tools and software products for conducting notarial actions in electronic format, including the use of qualified electronic signatures and remote communication systems. 4. The ability to comply with the requirements for the protection of personal data, professional secrecy and the security of electronic documents when performing notarial actions. 5. Knowledge of ethical principles and legal norms governing the work of notaries in the context of digitalization, as well as the ability to apply them in practice.

Discussed and recommended at the meeting of the Schools of economic and legal technologies and services protocol No. 4 of 17 January 2025.

Dean of the School  Bakhyt E.B.